

Clinical Practice Regulation for Long-term Advanced Students, SHUTCM

Essential qualifications:

1. Duration for English-taught or Chinese-taught advanced courses is no less than two academic years.
2. Full-payment students (including exchange students, government scholarship students etc.)
3. The completed credits are no less than 50 (while the credits of clinical practice is not included).
4. Students should apply for the clinical practice to International Student's Office at least six to eight weeks in advance. International Student's Office will provide the related information and materials for the Education Center so as to make arrangement.
5. Students' choices of practice hospitals or departments will be considered as reference, but will not be necessarily approved.
6. Only one department will be arranged for the clinical practice, two weeks in total.
7. Chinese-taught students can apply for the clinical practice any time in the whole year. Independent group practice will be arranged for 5 and above students. Students will join in full time undergraduate's probation if it is under 5. Special requests can be considered to arrange independent group practice for under 5 students. Generally, advanced course students take clinical practice with undergraduate students together, and will not be arranged separately. If advanced course students have any special requests, it should be discussed and agreed by Dean of International Education College. Special requests are limited within 4 students.
Non-Chinese-taught advanced students (including English-taught advanced students) share the same practice schedule with the full time English-taught undergraduates.
8. Above qualifications are only for clinical practice application. Long-term advanced students can not apply for Humanity Social Practice..
9. If students disobey the regulations of the university or hospitals during clinical practice, the practice will be terminated.
10. If students want to prolong the practice, please submit application to Short Term Training Department. Applications should be made two weeks in advance. The payment will be required the same as the short-term training. No application fee is charged.
